“ It's been more than a month without our beloved Sarah and the shock of this loss hasn't quite worn off in our small, close-knit group of young women from the civil engineering program. We love and miss Sarah every day and remember her for her ambitious nature, her smile, and being the best at having a darned good time - when we had the time between coursework. We would love to attend any services planned for Sarah to honor her life as her legacy lives on in our friendship. She continues to be so loved, and so missed.
